

- Connecting the dots -

PHUSE has a long track record of educating for the future of clinical data science. Educational topics at PHUSE events address different personas from industry starters over mature clinical data scientist up to industry veterans. More than two years ago, PHUSE Education has been rolled out with the aim to connect all the dots and existing educational efforts. Our goal is to provide a roadmap covering the broad bandwidth of clinical data science. This poster provides and overview about the setup of PHUSE Educations, progress made since the initial roll out and an outlook to upcoming activities.
